Re: Brite Engineering

We have been working with Brite Engineering for over 10 years. We have always been satisfied with their upmost professionalism and ability to meet our deadlines. They work hard for us on every project and possess the desire to serve us, as we serve our customers. That dual relationship has been most beneficial in the industry where time is extremely important on projects large and small.

They work extremely well with us regarding codes and fire inspection questions before the project gets off the ground. This type of relationship is very important and such an added value to us and our customers.

We do not hesitate to refer others to Brite Engineering and look forward to continuing our business relationship with them.

If we can be of further service, please do not hesitate to give us a call.

Best Regards,

David Graham
